

Drop-In Centre

For many women entering Alice Housing, the crisis they are experiencing includes financial strain. The provision of food through our Food Bank and Community Kitchen is essential to many families. At the Drop-In Centre, women have access to a computer and internet services for resume writing, job searches and other vocational needs. The donation room provides current and past tenants with used clothing, household items and other necessities.

The Drop-In Centre provides:

- Access food provided by Feed Nova Scotia.
- An opportunity to participate in and benefit from Community Kitchen meals on program nights.
- Access to gift certificates for food in emergencies.
- Instructional classes on computer use.
- Access to our donations room.
